There is an African proverb that goes... The young bird does not crow until it hears the old ones...

The voice of Dr Sulley Gariba will echo for a generation of future leaders. A beacon, and an unparalleled legacy.

The EvalPartners family was deeply saddened to hear of Dr Gariba’s passing on 27 April.

Yet, like the branches and roots of a great African baobab, Sulley’s contribution to evaluation, governance and the lives of people, will provide the shade for us to continue our work with passion and commitment.

We call on our colleagues and friends to share messages, tributes, photos and anecdotes as we together plan to honour is his life and his legacy.
It is a special thing for a person to mean so much to someone.

A panel on Made in Africa evaluation at the 9th AfrEA Conference in Abidjan, 2019
Remembering Dr Sulley Gariba
4 May 1958 – 27 April 2021

A husband, father, statesman and friend