

Michael Bamberger has evaluated development programs throughout Africa, Asia, Latin America, and the Middle East.

Since retiring after 22 years with the World Bank, he has consulted with many UN, bilateral, and government agencies and with NGOs.

He has published widely on development evaluation and served on the advisory board of many leading evaluation journals. He is a member of the UNDP Independent Evaluation Office International Evaluation Advisory Committee. He recently co-authored a book with Jos Vaessen and Estelle Raimondo (2016) Dealing with complexity in development evaluation. The book offers practical guidance to policymakers, managers, and evaluation practitioners on how to design and implement complexity-responsive evaluations that can be undertaken in the real world of time, budget, data, and political constraints.
